

La Brigue, a natural treasure

Once the largest municipality in Italy, La Brigue now preserves its medieval and Baroque heritage in a lush valley at the foot of the mountains. Known for the Notre-Dame des Fontaines chapel and its Brigasque sheep, La Brigue is a village of squares and pedestrian alleys, perfect for wandering, relaxing, and enjoying local cuisine.

Good reasons to visit

Count the decorated door lintels – some medieval, others created more recently by a local artist.

Read the frescoes of Notre-Dame des Fontaines like a comic strip.

Take a closer look at the 'Ca d'arbine', traditional fortified bee houses.

Celebrate in village restaurants and discover the traditional "white cuisine."

For the adventurous, try the zip line along the via ferrata.

To visit

Notre Dame des Fontaines
Just 3 km from the village, surrounded by woodland and springs – the "Sistine Chapel of the Maritime Alps."

Maison du patrimoine brigasque, an immersive journey into La Brigue's past.

Collegiate Church of St Martin and Baroque chapels treasures set in a striking, theatrical landscape.

Pont du coq, an extraordinary right-angled bridge.

Ca d'arbine dell'Evêché, a fortified house built to protect beehives.
